

26 Jun 2004

Spider-Man Swings into Changi Airport

Travellers will be treated to comic super-hero, "Spider-Man", in action at Changi Airport. Starting from Sunday, 27 June 2004, travellers who are waiting to catch their flights in transit at Changi, will be entertained with action-packed "live" performances by Spider-Man and other characters from the upcoming movie, "Spider-Man 2", such as the villain "Dr Octopus". The super-hero will swing from the ceiling and perform other stunts, in his quest to bring "villains" to justice.

There will be four shows a day from 6pm to 9pm, between 27 June and 3 July 2004 in the Departure/ Transit lounges of Terminals 1 and 2.

Other activities are also lined up in conjunction with the live performances. Spot quizzes during show times will be held and travellers can walk away with Spider-Man posters, t-shirts and souvenirs. Movie trailers of the Spider-Man 2 movie will also be shown and memorabilia of the comic character will be on sale.

Two pairs of tickets for SIA's non-stop flights to New York are up for grabs in a grand lucky draw. Travellers simply need to answer two questions related to "Spider-Man". New York is the birthplace of "Peter Parker" (Spider-Man's true identity in the comic series).