

Changi Airport wins cargo award for 24th consecutive time

SINGAPORE, 11 June 2010 – Singapore Changi Airport has been recognised by the global cargo industry as the Best Airport in Asia, an award Changi has won for a record 24th consecutive time. Changi has also consistently won this award every year since the award's inception. At the 24th Annual Asian Freight and Supply Chain Awards (AFSCA) ceremony held in Shanghai yesterday, the inaugural Best Green Service Provider – Airport award was also bestowed on Changi for its green initiatives.

The AFSCA awards honour outstanding companies for demonstrating leadership as well as consistency in service quality, innovation, customer relationship management and reliability. They are a result of an annual reader survey conducted by Cargonews Asia magazine, an established freight and logistics publication in the region. The awards are unique as they are based on votes cast by service users themselves. More than 13,500 readers of Cargonews Asia were polled to select the best service providers this year.

Changi Airport Group's Executive Vice President, Air Hub Development, Yam Kum Weng, said, "We are honoured to be recognised by our cargo and logistics partners for our efforts in building a conducive cargo operating environment and strong partnership at Changi. We will continue to work closely with them to identify new cargo growth opportunities and support their future plans in Singapore."

With these latest awards, Changi has won ten accolades thus far in 2010, taking its total tally to more than 350.
